Elucidation of the American Policy of Protection.

Tribune this morning contains a long interdent Cleveland's message. He says: "I have been reading an abstract of the President's message, and have been especially papers. Those papers all assume to declare market for English fabrics in the United States as a consequence of the President's recommendations. Perhaps that fact stamped the character of the message more

"I mean," said Blaine, "that for the first ime in the history of the United States a President recommends retaining an internal tax in order that the tariff may be forced down even below a fair revenue tobacco be retained, and thus many millions annually be levied on domestic products which would far better come from a tariff on foreign fabrics."

"Then, do you mean to imply that you would favor the repeal of the tobacco tax?" "Certainly, I mean just that," said Mr. Blaine. "I should urge that it be done at once, even before the Christmas holidays. t would, in the first-place, bring great re-ief to the growers of tobacco all over the country, and would, moreover, materially essen the price of the article to consumers eco, to millions of men, is a necessity The President calls it a luxury. It is well to remember that the luxury of yesterday becomes a necessity of to-day. Watch, if you please, the number of men at work on a farm, in the coal mines, along the rail-roads, in the iron foundries, or in any calling, and you will find 95 to 1() chewng tobacco while they work. These men not only pay millions of tobacco tax, but pay on every plug and every cigar the enhanced price which the tax enables the manufacturer and retailer to impose. To retain the tax now in order to desiroy that protection which would incidentally flow rom raising the same amount of money on foreign imports, is certainly

A MOST EXTRAORDINARY POLICY or our Government."

"Well, Mr. Blaine, would you advise tle repeal of the whisky tax, also?"
"No, I would not. Other considerations than those of financial administration are to be taken into account with regard to whisky. There is a moral side. To heapen the price of whisky is to increase the consumption enormously. There would be no sense in urging the reform wrought by high license in many States, if the National Government neutralizes the good effect by making whisky within the reach of everyone. At twenty cents a gallon whisky would be everywhere distilled if the surveillance of the Government were withdrawn by the remission of the tax, and illicit sales could not then be prevented, even by a policy as vicence. be prevented, even by a policy as vigorous and searching as that by which Russia oursues the Nibilists. It would destroy high license at once in all States. Whisky has done a vast deal of harm in the United States, and I would try to make it do so as not to reduce protection, but to wisely

My reply is that the tax on whisky by the Federal Government means the consequent enhancement of the rice, which has been a powerful agent in emperance reform, by putting it beyond the reach of so many. The amount of whisky consumed in the United States is ot more than 40 per cent. of that con-

Its enactment was immediately followed by the Mexican war. Then, in 1848, by great convulsions in Europe; then, in 1849, and succeeding years, by the enormous gold yield in Colin years, by the enormous gold yield in California. The Powers made peace in 1856, and at the same time the output of gold in California fell off. Immediately the financial panic of 1857 came on the country with disastrous force. By the way," Blaine added, after a mc ment's reflection, "it is worthy of notice that Polk, on emptying the Treasury by a free trade tariff, immediately rushed into debt by borrowing $150,000,000 for the Mexican war. I trust that nothing may occur to repeat so disastrous a sequel to the policy recommended by Cleveland, but the uniform fate, for fifty years past, of the Democratic party has been that when it

I therefore make no comment, further than to indorse Fred Grant's remarks-that a 'surplus is always structed, would you still maintain the tax easier to handle than a deficit.

The reporter repeated the question whether the President's recommendation would not, it adopted, give us advantage of a large increase in exports. "I only repeat," answered Blaine, "it would vastly enlarge our imports, while the only exports it would seriously increase would be our gold and silver. That would flow out bountifully, just as it did under the tariff of 1846."

"But don't you think it important to increase our export trade?"
"Undoubtedly, but it is vastly more important not to lose our own great market for our own people in a vain effort to reach that has caused the wonderful growth of the republic; it is the vast domestic trade between thirty-eight States and eight Territories, with their population of perhaps 62,000,000 people. #### THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

A careful reading of the President' message does not remove the conviction that Mr. Cleveland has brought it down to the level of a campaign document in the interest of the policy of a large portion of his party, but not of all of it. There is no new argument for qualified free trade in the paper. All that is said has been said before, and more forcibly. The President is hostile to the policy of protection, and that is really the length and breadth of his essay. That he does not find any remedy for the surplus in plans to build a navy and properly fortify our coasts, is somewhat surprising; nor does it seem to have impressed him that a reduction of income may be made by cutting off inter nal revenue. That in England even the synopsis of the message telegraphed there should have produced exclamations of fretrade delight, is conclusive of the real meaning of the paper. The English see in it a free trade document, and hasten to welcome and approve it as such. While repeating that there is nothing new in the message, it is fair to say that this is not the President's fault, for there is no new thought to be projected relating to it-the subject has been exhausted, and all argument that can now be advanced for it and against the protection policy of the country, must be repetitive. The puzzling part of the document is that wherein the President, while demanding radical reduction of the tariff, remarks that the interests | the halls his benevolence gave to the peoof American labor engaged in manufacture must be carefully considered, as well as the preservation of our manufactures. Just echoes of the disloyal shouts of Anarchist what the President means by this vague utterance, in view of what precedes it, must form the subject of analytical debate that is not at all likely to reach a definite conclusion. The reduction of taxation as an rascal, who goes unhanged by the merciful abstract proposition will not be antagonized by the people, but they will not quartet were executed for exercising the consent to its being made a means of re- right of free speech and expression of free moval of protection to home manufactur- thoughts. Here is a specimen of the ing and labor interests. Merely iterating rhetorical gush of the speaker: that his scheme does not propose this amounts to nothing. Just what his plan is, will be determined upon its face, and not by the President's interpretation of it. What will strike the intelligent as most singular in the whole message is the inharmony between the President's view of the condition of the country under the condition of the country. They do not want to belong to this country. Th view of the condition of the country under the present tariff, and what most men recognize to be the fact. It is difficult to unsupport to be the fact. The decision of the Supreme Court of their human chattels uninterruptedly the United States on the question of prohibition by States of the liquor traffic, takes the Prohibition question out of national politics.

I believe this traffic has been very extensively carried on, and I may say I know there is a good deal of money behind the persons engaged in it. The very fact that additional counsel has been employed here shows there is somebody willing to pay, no doubt, a proper and liberal counsel fee, quite beyond the ordinary ability of a single coole who wants to get his wife, from whom he has been separated six years, back to him. Kansas has prohibition ordinances. I was contended that they were in conflict with the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, whiel provides that no State shall make or en force any law which shall abridge the priv ileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law. The Court holds that legislation by a State prohibiting the manufacture within her limits of intoxieating liquors to be sold or bartered for general use as beverage does not necessarily infringe any right, privilege or immunity secured by the Constitution of the United tion to fill city offices, wherein selfish in-

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific. It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea with-out the knowledge of the person taking it; is ab-solutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a mod-erate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific it becomes an utter is proved. ith the Specific, it becomes an utter impossi-ility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale y JOS. MONTE VISTA.

A SUBURBAN TRACT OF 135 ACRES OF fruit and vegetable land, supplied with irrigation facilities which will soon be placed on the market by the MONTE VISTA LAND COMPANY, of Sacramento. The following are the leading features inviting attention from those who desire a suburban residence with plenty of ground, and within fifteen minutes ride by railway or carriege of the Control of the SUBURBAN TRACT OF 135 ACRES OF ide by radway or carriage of the Capital of the State:

MONTE VISTA is located one and three-quarter miles east of the city limits of the fruit-shipping center of the State, with its fifty-four daily arriving and departing trains. Monte Vista has a half-mile frontage on the Southern facific Railway, and can also be reached by extrisge via the Brighton or Upper Stockton roads.

A broad avenue will extend from the railway one-half mile to the southern boundary, which will be intersected by cross-streets, dividing the tract into blocks of one to five acres. Both sides of the avenue will be lined with trees, and a park frontage given the portion laid out with residence loss. park irontage given the portion laid out with residence lots.

In the center of the tract, at an elevation affording a beautiful view of the Sierra Nevada and Coast Range Mountains, and overlooking the city, a park will be laid out and supplied with evergreens, orange and lemon trees and tropical shrubbery. Surrounding it will be one row of villa lots, 50x150 feet, with 40 feet alley affording the business man a rural home with pleasant surroundings, and the owner of a fruit block a residence with some city conveniences. A well 120 feet deep is now completed, which will be supplied with a powerful steam pump of 50,000 gallons per hour capacity for irrigation purposes, and a 25,000-gallon tank for furnishing ture well water under pressure to villa lots and residences. Water will be piped opposite each lot.

Shares in the irrigation plant will go with the property, pro rata with the purchase area, thus ecuring water at the expense of running the achinery.

A station will be supplied by the railway ompany at the junction of the track with the lain avenue, and commutation tickets fur-

ON THE COMPLETION OF THE PLANS AS BEREIOFORE GUILINED The public will be invited to a railway excursion to the model suburban colony of Central California, and solicited to purchase property under conditions which for all time PROBIBIT THE SALE OF LIQUOR ON THE PREMISES. James I. Felter read before the California Museum Association last even- of the present month. ing at its regular monthly meeting, an interesting paper on "The Grape and Its Products." After referring to the early history of California and the small thought given to soil culture by the pioneer men of the State, and the causes that finally- pairs. thirty years ago-led them to give attention culture, he said it was not until 1859 and 1860 that any effort was made to get grape cuttings of the finer varieties abroad, and little real attention was paid to the grape industry until the close of the late war. It was found that we could raise every variety of grape known to the world, to perfection, and to-day the grape industry is the second in the State. About 1865 we began to realize the great extent of our valley and foothill capabilities. To-day, the essayist held, it is safe to prophecy that within the decade the production of raisins, wines and brandies from grapes will equal, f not exceed, in value the combined crop of our cereals. The same variety of wine and cognac grapes grown from cuttings imported from Europe excel here the products of choice wine districts of France, Germany, Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It it therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies, concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge, have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at the every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

other engines for driving dynamos has been devised by M. Menges. In this system the supply of gas to the motor is controlled supply of gas to the motor is controlled electrically by means of a solenoid coupled up with the lamps, either in series or in parallel, according as a constant potential or a constant current service is required A soft iron core is placed in the solenoic and any variation of the current in the latter causes a corresponding change in the position of the core. The core is connected by a lever to the gas valve, the opening through which is thus varied, pari passu, with the current through the coil. This s so arranged that the greater the load on the dynamo the wider is the gas valve agreeable. Price, 50 cents at druggists; regis tered, 60 cts. Indigestion.

Many persons lose appetite and strength, become emaciated, suffer, and die, because of defective nutrition, who might have been restored to health by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine acts upon the digestive organs, through the blood, and has effected many wonderful cures. For years I suffered from Loss of Appetite and Indigestion, and failed to find relief, until I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this medicine

Entirely Cured me, and my appetite and digestion are now perfect.—Fred G. Bower, 496 Seventh st., South Boston, Mass.

I have, for years, suffered acutely from Dyspepsia, scarcely taking a meal, until within the past few months, without enwithin the past few months, without enduring the most distressing pains of Indigestion. My stomach sometimes rejected all food. I became greatly reduced in strength, and very despondent. Satisfied, at last, that my trouble was of a scrofulous nature, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and believe it has saved my life. My appetite and digestion are now good, and my health is perfect.—Oliver T. Adams, Spencer, Ohio.
